What is this resource and how do I use it?

Keep little ones engaged while you're out and about with these silly story starters. Cut out the cards, randomly select one and build a story around it. You can do them individually or take it in turns to create a story together. This might seem like just a fun game (and it is!), but it is also a great way to build children's verbal communication and creativity.

What skills does this practise?

Verbal Communication

Early Literacy

Creativity

Confidence

Further Activity Ideas and Suggestions
